SPOTLIGHT

ART WEEKEND AHEAD

Drawings and sculptures inspired by nature at the N.C. Botanical Garden, the strange reality of 12 Grain Studios Matt Duquette at Wootini and a wonderland of fauna at The ArtsCenter are among the show openings and gallery receptions this weekend. Following is a list of some of the events:

- A reception for the artists for the show "Nature, Near and Far," an exhibit of plant and animal portraits by Georgia Minnich and Dot Wilbur-Brooks, will be held at the Totten Center at the Botanical Garden on Sunday from 4 to 5 p.m.
- Nested is hosting a reception for a show by Carolyn Butler featuring selections from a drawing series created in response to the gentrification of College Hill in Providence, R.I.
- Bicameral Mind and Subscape Annex will provide the background sounds at the opening at Wootini of Duquette's "Transitions" collection on Friday at 7 p.m.
- The ArtsCenter will have the doors open during the 2nd Friday Artwalk, with etchings by Mary Mendell in the East End Gallery and acrylic paintings from Shannon Bueker's "Wonder o' Wonders" in the Center Gallery.

Listings for more galleries are available at the 2nd Friday Artwalk website and through individual gallery websites. A collection of those sites is available at carrborocitizen.com/mill/art-venues/
